• Nutritional needs and eating on a budget
• Fatigue management
• Developing coping skills.

Having a carer specific group allows the sharing of practical ideas and personal experience, as well as hospice staff being able to promote good practice, providing a forum for carers to engage with hospice services earlier for them and their families.

The three-week course is run every third month; each session lasting 90 minutes, enabling delivery to five cohorts per year. Between 2015 and 2016 the course was delivered to 70 carers.

Feedback gained following sessions suggested that the support and advice delivered was specific to their needs and delivered at the correct time to enhance confidence in their caring role when supporting their loved ones at the end of their lives. The course has been commissioned for a further 12 months by the Local Authority.

We have developed the scope of the Share and Care service to include a more informal drop-in service for carers supported by local carer support agencies known as “Carers Retreat”, supporting 85 carers in the last 12 months.

Carers play a vital role in managing issues for patients with life-limiting illnesses and the group provides practical support with this. Additionally it allows earlier access to more traditional hospice services whilst challenging stigma around the role of hospice care.

The group ascertained that hospices are confidently providing therapeutic activities, however, they were less confident that hospices provide sufficient information, training and education and supportive activities for carers.

Outcome The group agreed to produce a minimum standard for specialist palliative care providers/hospices in meeting carers’ needs.

Minimum standard for supporting carers by specialist palliative care providers/hospices
• Signpost those early in the trajectory to partner organisations
• Young carers
• Carer Support Needs Assessment Tool
• Moving and handling, the care towards the end of life and Caring in Confidence courses
• Leaflets and website
• Financial or benefit advice
• Supportive activities
• Therapeutic activities.

P-16 CLARIFYING THE ROLE OF THE HOSPICE IN SUPPORT AND ASSESSMENT OF CARERS AND DEVELOPING BEST PRACTICE

In 2015, five hospice representatives across Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire met as a ‘ meet and finish’ group to review the services that hospices and palliative care providers give to carers.

The aims of the group were to identify:
• Gaps in provision
• Types of assessment tools used
• Key learning from other services
• The need for services to collectively to reach more people.

The types of hospice support for adult family carers within the Hospice UK (2013) document “Supporting family carers: report on the evidence of how to work with and support family carers to inform the work of the Commission into the Future of Hospice Care” were used as a basis of the discussion:
• Information, training and education – moving and handling, disease process, prognosis, specific care tasks, medication, dying
• Supportive activities – Drop in sessions, self-help groups, walking or activity groups, volunteer visiting, art-making groups
• Therapeutic activities – one-to-one counselling, therapeutic support groups, drama, music or art therapy, relaxations or mindfulness classes, complementary therapies and psychotherapy.

The focus group ascertained that hospices are confidently providing therapeutic activities, however, they were less confident that hospices provide sufficient information, training and education and supportive activities for carers.

Abstracts

P-17 THE POSITIVE IMPACT OF PROVIDING A CARER SUPPORT PROGRAMME TO INFORMAL CARERS WITHIN A HOSPICE ENVIRONMENT SETTING

Anita Price, Christopher Lucas. Ashgate Hospice, Chesterfield, North Derbyshire

In 2015, five hospice representatives across Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire met as a ‘ meet and finish’ group to review the services that hospices and palliative care providers give to carers.

The aims of the group were to identify:
• Gaps in provision
• Types of assessment tools used
• Key learning from other services
• The need for services to collectively to reach more people.

The types of hospice support for adult family carers within the Hospice UK (2013) document “Supporting family carers: report on the evidence of how to work with and support family carers to inform the work of the Commission into the Future of Hospice Care” were used as a basis of the discussion:
• Information, training and education – moving and handling, disease process, prognosis, specific care tasks, medication, dying
• Supportive activities – Drop in sessions, self-help groups, walking or activity groups, volunteer visiting, art-making groups
• Therapeutic activities – one-to-one counselling, therapeutic support groups, drama, music or art therapy, relaxations or mindfulness classes, complementary therapies and psychotherapy.

The focus group ascertained that hospices are confidently providing therapeutic activities, however, they were less confident that hospices provide sufficient information, training and education and supportive activities for carers.

Outcome The group agreed to produce a minimum standard for specialist palliative care providers/hospices in meeting carers’ needs.

Minimum standard for supporting carers by specialist palliative care providers/hospices
• Signpost those early in the trajectory to partner organisations
• Young carers
• Carer Support Needs Assessment Tool
• Moving and handling, the care towards the end of life and Caring in Confidence courses
• Leaflets and website
• Financial or benefit advice
• Supportive activities
• Therapeutic activities.